Foreword

The theme of the Accolade for 1975 is
"The Proud Knight."
This theme is carried throughout the book by the art design from the front cover.
The art is very simple.
It's just the head of a knight enclosed in a circle — a contemporary design.

But there's something special about it.
Notice the tilt of the head, the stance.
They signify pride.

This theme and this design were chosen because the editors felt these were the best ways to get the point across:
the Knight of St. Francis de Sales High School has many reasons to be proud.
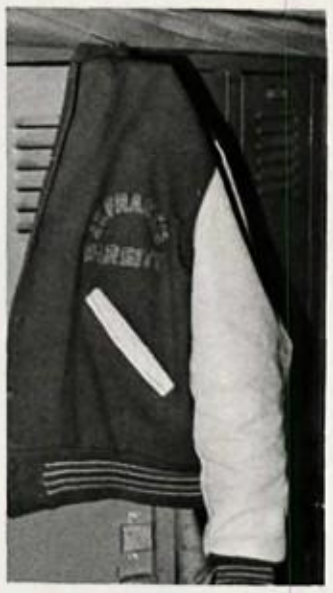
Now, the reader may wonder,
"What makes the Knight proud?"
We wondered too.
So we asked the Knights themselves.
Here's what some of them said:

"I am proud to be a part of this untarnished tradition of the Knights."

"I am proud to be a Knight for to be a Knight you have to reason, and to reason is why we are what we are."



"I am proud to be a Knight because of the Christian leadership at St. Francis."

"I am proud to be a Knight because, although St. Francis may not be the best at everything it does, we still do it with pride."

"It takes a special kind of person to be a Knight. That's what makes us different, but that's what makes us better."

"There is always a hand out to help and a shoulder to lean on."

"I am proud to be a Knight because of the high academic and athletic standards of the school and its reputation among other schools as well."

"St. Francis is tops in everything, curricular as well as extracurricular. The teachers and classes are interesting. I strive for the best things. Here I am."

"We Knights, with an impenetrable armor of pride, stand together till the end."

So there are many reasons.
You've now read a few.
You'll see others in the rest of this book.
You'll probably come to the conclusion we did:
Every Knight's proud and every Knight has his reasons why.

And now
to explain the plan of the book.
We listened when the students told us what they expected to find in their book.
We listened
when the faculty and administration told us what they expected.
And then we considered how we could give everyone what he wanted and still maintain good yearbook standards and make this an educational experience as well.
We portioned out the pages in such a way as to reflect interest and importance.
We did what we thought was right and fair.

Don't judge us too harshly.
Remember, we were only students,
high school students,
a bunch of amateurs
trying to act like pros, and learning as much as we could about history writing, journalism, graphic design, and photography.
We tried.

People should not be forgotten.
Mrs. Dorothy Roberts,
a school secretary for about twenty years,
retired in February.
She was part of the original crew that helped to establish St. Francis de Sales High School. She was always around when somebody needed help. From morning to night, she was always doing her job and more. Her concern about this school and its students is something that will always be appreciated.
Well, we appreciate her too, Here's proof:
we dedicate Accolade 1975 to
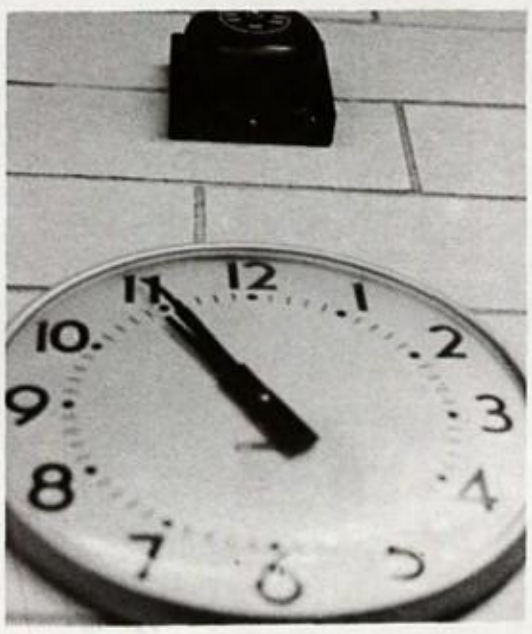
Mrs. Dorothy Roberts.



Culture
is hard to define.
But on the next few pages you'll find pictures of people and objects (quite often taken for granted) that made up part of your environment
during the school year.
Some may think this is a rather dumb idea.
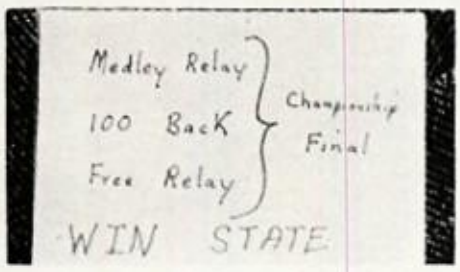
But
we have reasons:



Use these pictures
to prod your memory.
Get a laugh out of some.
Think seriously about others.

Some days the dragon wins...

At least remember those that you've experienced from September 1974 to June 1975.
They were all here.
Maybe you didn't notice.
We did.

THE LANCE

Liturgies

Liturgies are celebtated at various times during the school year: at the opening of school in September, at Thanksgiving, at Christmas, at the Feast of St. Francis de Sales, and at Easter. In picture (1) the Senior Class officers, Mike Korpics, Nick Moulopoulos, and Mike Schlageter, lead the procession of the Rev. Robert Healy, principal,

These are only some of the events which take place every year. Most students are involved in several events, and, more importantly, everyone has an opportunity to become involved in many things. Perhaps the greatest tribute to St. Francis is the number of upperclassmen who remain involved in the things that happen here, as the following pictures show.

the Rev. Dominic Finn, the Rev. Ronald Olszewski, and the Rev. Edward Chrzanowski before the Mass.
The Rev. James Prentice, assistant principal, (4) leads the opening antiphons.
The chalice (2) is prepared for the Offertory procession. The guitar group (3) of Paul Peters, Maurice Myers, and Tom Hinde are led by the Rev. John Gussenbauer. Jeff Peer receives Communion from Father Olszewski, (5) while Mike Thebes, Mike Cunningham, and Greg Gniewkowski wait.
Students are active participants in the Masses.

Homecoming

Fr. Healy (1) congratulates the homecoming queen, Anne Younkman, The St. Francis High School Marching Band rumored to be the finest in the city, prepares to lead the long march to DeVilbiss High School to meet St. John's in the homecoming football game (2). Knights and friends express themselves at the homecoming dance (3).

Rallies

What can you say about a long-standing tradition, a football rally? That it demonstrates the same exuberance that has characterized Knight rallies since their beginning.
Before the Whitmer football game, the cheerleaders incite the crowd to a fever-pitch that overwhelms the team. The band prepares to take over when the cheerleaders exhaust themselves.

Spirit Week

The Irish-Knight is awarded to the winner of the annual St. Francis-Central game (1). Spirited Knights relax late at night after decorating the halls (4.) In a red and blue display, the class of '75 tells all that St. Francis High School is (2) the "house of the rising sun."

"It pays to advertise" is the motto as industrious Knights pose in front of their handiwork (5). Chris Velker, Tim Kronbach, and John Szymanski set an example for the entire school as they pose to show the spirit and unity that is alive among the seniors this year at St. Francis (3).

Christmas Assembly

The students and faculty of St. Francis eagerly awaited the start of Christmas vacation. The countdown towards vacation culminated in the Christmas assembly, which is highlighted by Jay Nussel's reading of the Christmas story.

John Westhoven and Chris Velker (1) show appreciation and support for their fellow students. In (2), Santa Claus (Eric Walker) puts his soul into the Christmas celebration. Why is everyone having such a good time (4)? To find out, see (5). The Student Council provided, for the student body at the Christmas assembly, entertainment by Kevin Ford, a magician. The victim of this trick (4) is the Reverend Dominic Finn who finds himself in a rather pointed situation. Fortunately, he survived the ordeal.

Christmas Dance

Miss Teen Age America Karen Petersen is one of the special attractions at the Christmas assembly, (3). Students felt it couldn't have been a nicer present from jolly old St. Nick.

One of the performers from the band which played at the Christmas dance tunes up in preparation (1). Most of the students agreed that the band was one of the best to play at a St. Francis dance. In (2), a hooded musician prepares to use a unique musical instrument, a cow bell. The dance, at the Masonic Auditorium, attracted a large crowd. The students and their friends get into the spirit (3).

3

The music is slow for a few minutes during the dance (1). A lucky girl has the privilege of dancing with Santa Claus (2). She will probably get what she wants for Christmas. The Rev. David Whalen poses with Santa and a helper (3). Tim Korhumel hangs loose when the tempo of the dance picks up (4). Ed Clemons and his date are in the center of the action as the musician with the cow bell entertains (5). Colleen MacNamara and Katie Geiger have themselves a merry Christmas and experience the togetherness that is a part of the season (6).

Inherit the Wind

St. Francis puts on a fall play each year. This year's play, "Inherit the Wind," deals with the reluctance of people to tolerate ideas which challenge their fundamental beliefs. Below, Jailer/Bailiff Jim Pencheff weilds a broom in the Hillsboro Courtroom.

Witness Ed Schrader squirms under the anxiety of being examined by Brian Bates, the prosecuting attorney, while judge Jay Nussel oversees the proceedings (1). While talking to Ed Schrader and Mary Beth Aubrey (2), Barry Hudgin mocks the attitude of the citizens of Hillsboro as they look on in disgust. In a tense cross-examination (3), Tim Korhumel, the defense attorney, is incredulous about the prosecuter Brian Bates' answers. In (4), starry-eyed Tom Dreeze, the district attorney (far left), poses beside Jay Nussel. The minister, Greg Nussel, leans over the shoulder of the mayor, Bob Mieczkowski, who puffs his pipe despite the interference of his moustache. Kathy Kasper consoles her apprehensive husband Brian Bates (5) about the upcoming trial. Mr. Robert Stucker (6), director, set-designer, make-up artist (he teaches, too!), stresses a point during rehearsal. In (7), Tom Dreeze looks over his lines during a break in the scene. The actors often work late into the night. Barry Hudgin must make a choice between using his money to buy a Bible or to buy dinner when confronted by the salesman, Fred Berning, in (8).

Color Day

Color Day happens once a year to build up school spirit before one of the big basketball games. This year Color Day helped do that before the St. John's game. Result: St. Francis over St. John's 60-40. The basketball team takes out revenge (1) on the "Revenge" sign. Pictures (2) and (3) and (6) express feelings about the game. Coach Jim Robinson (4) whips up some enthusiasm by telling "We're ready for this one!" – and they were! Skeptic Father Fisher tears up Fearless Freddie's Forecast (5). And (7) Father Ankenbrandt gets ready to show off his "Mole Patrol" shirt to encourage spirit.

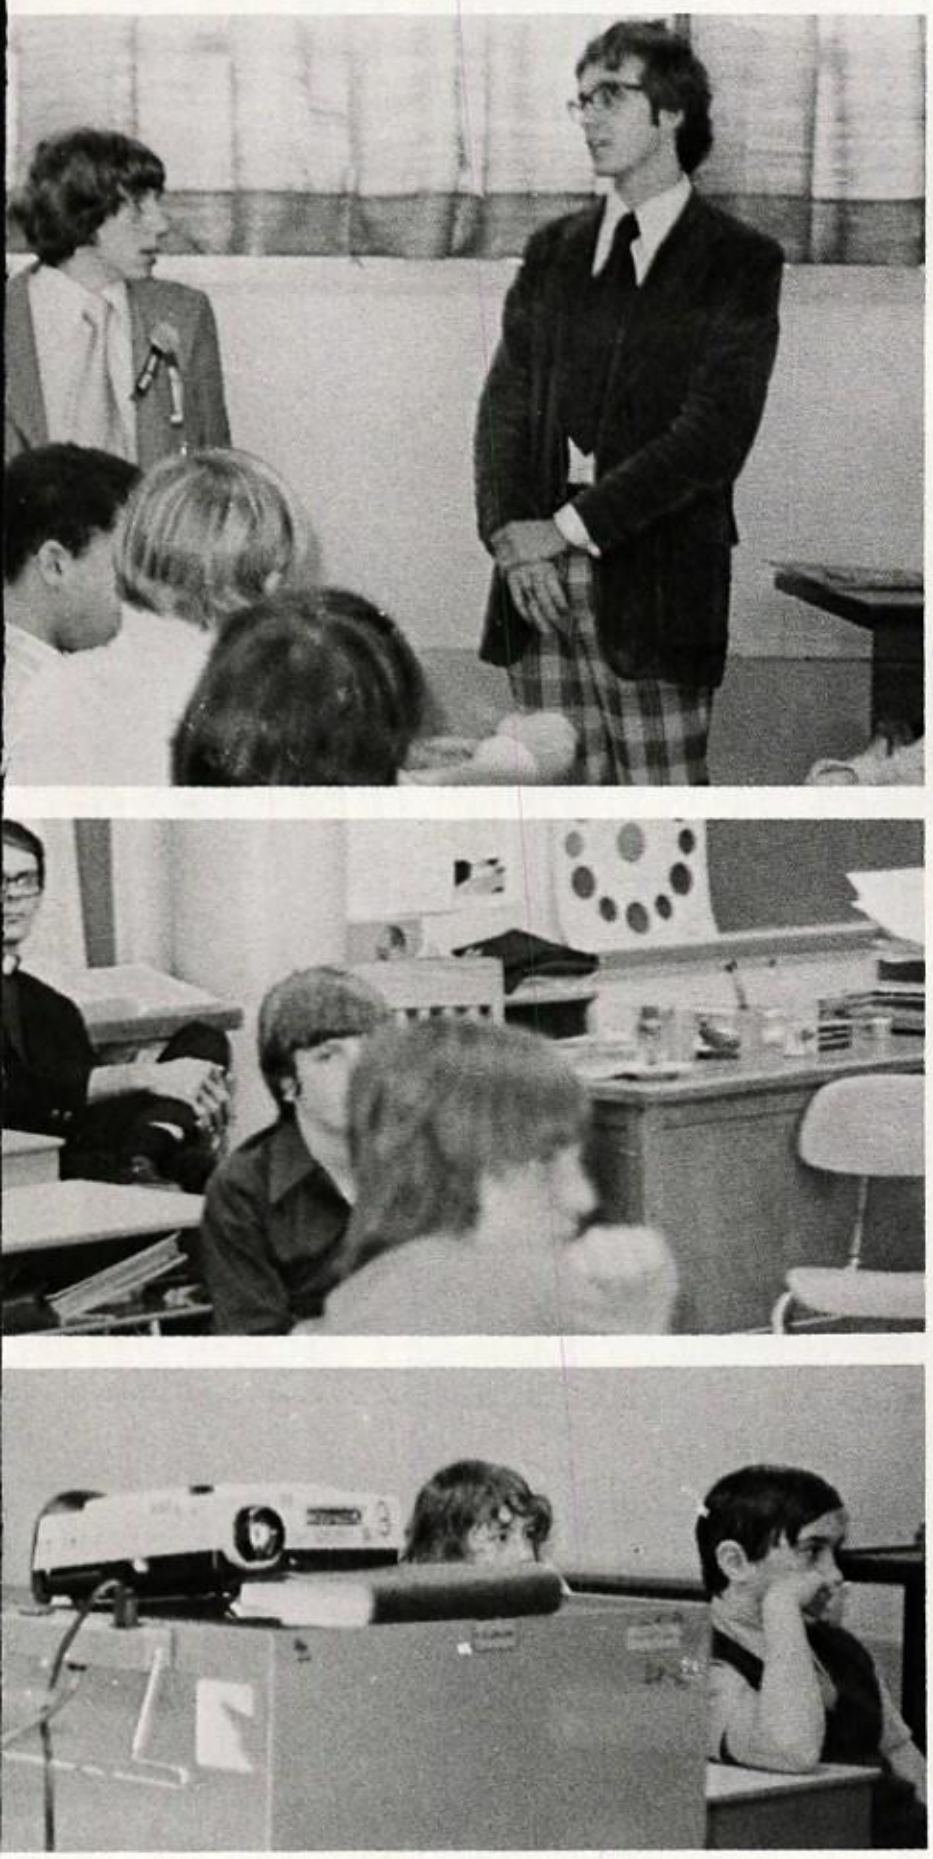
Visitation

Anticipating freshman registration, the Knights annually visit area grade schools to show eighth graders some slides of school activities and to answer questions. Mike Schramm, Mike Wohl, Ron Helfrich, and Bob Busse, along with Father O'Donnell, visit St. Jude's Grade School.



Mrs. Roberts Retires

After 21 years of unselfish service to St. Francis de Sales High School, Mrs. Dorothy Roberts retired and was honored at an all-school assembly in the auditorium. She was presented with a dozen red roses, a plaque from Toledo Mayor Harry Kessler, a tape recorder, and a deserved vacation check.

During the assembly on Wednesday, February 5, Mrs. Roberts and her husband were congratulated and given good wishes by the school president (1) the Rev. Robert Healy. Father Healy gives Mrs. Roberts a goodbye kiss (2) while in (3) John Westhoven, senior class president, expresses the same fondess on behalf of the student body. Mrs. Roberts poses with one of the gifts (4). ("We still love you, Dorothy!")

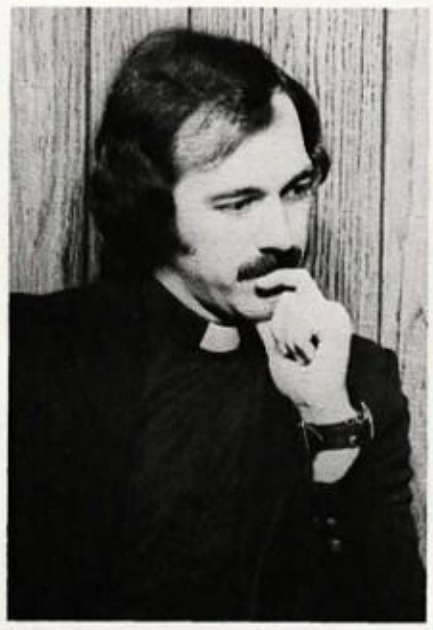
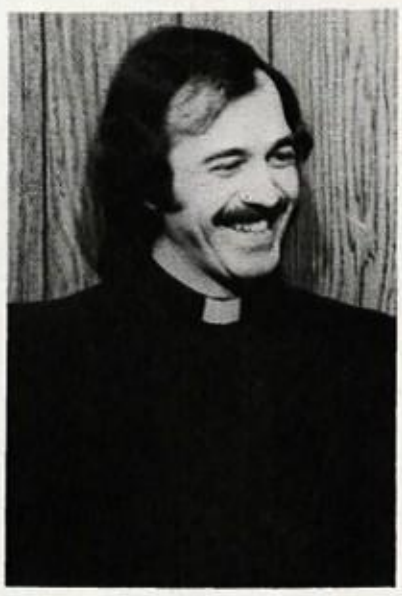
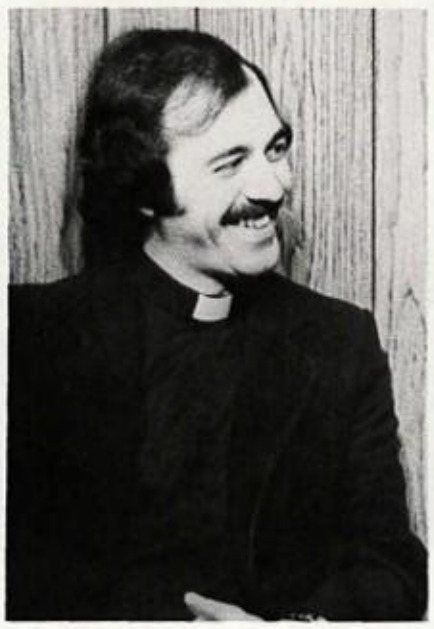
Transition

Thursday, February 6, was a day of transition in the administration of St. Francis de Sales High School. On that day, it was announced to the student body during the television period that the Rev. Robert Healy, principal since 1967, was now president of the school, while the Rev. Ronald Olszewski, a 1962 graduate, was now principal.
The announcement was made public by the Very Rev. Alfred Russell, superior of the Toledo community. The new appointees were interviewed by Mr. Larry Jankowski, WSFK moderator.







Funarama

Funarama is the Knight festival of the year. Freshman Frank Graff spreads Funarama cheer along with balloons in (1), while a customer, Brother Charles Dulin, examines an exhibit (2). In (6), Fr. Olszewski, Fr. Healy, and Robb Voyles confer in front of the ticket booth. The students achieved 100 per cent of the school quota of ticket sales. The student who sold more tickets than anyone else, Joe Skaff, attempts to win a prize by knocking over a target in (7). The school obtains substantial revenue from the ticket sales and the profits from the exhibits.

Fr. James Sottek displays his loot: a stuffed animal from one of the games and a pie from the baked goods store (3). Mr. Carl Bires, father of a graduate, still faithfully lends his assistance on the big day (8). Even amid the excitement, Fr. John Mcmenamin finds time for thought (4). Anne Younkman and John Westhoven try their luck (9) while Jim Czerniakowski shows that he is a winner. Student chairmen for Funarama were Jeff Gross and Robb Voyles, who in (10) use the latest in electronic gadgetry to total the results of the sales.

Activities

Non-competitive activities and personal interest clubs provide outlets for the energies and talents of the students. At the hub of student acitivites is the Student Council, constantly trying to serve the students in every way possible, from planning dances to organizing students in a march against drug abuse.

In the realm of media — reporting, recording, and entertaining — are The Lance (school paper), the Accolade (year book), and WSKF (television station).

The band has often been called the backbone of school spirit, and with good reason. No other group can work the students and team into a frenzy so quickly. In addition, the pep band, a small group which performs at sports events which take place in the great indoors, is composed of members of the main band who play quick and snazzy tunes to psyche up the team and the students.

Finally, a group of athletic Knights have shown interest in one of the most popular sports in America and have established the hockey club, competing successfully against area schools.

The range of activities is wide, but the basic requirements for participation are few. Interest, energy, and enthusiasm are the only qualities that a Knight needs to have a lot of fun and to do a lot of good for himself and for others.

Knights finish 1974 season with 7-2 record

It was all a matter of one point.
The 1974 Varsity Football Team put together a respectable 7-2-0 record.
The Defensive Unit led City League statistics by allowing only 3.8 (yes, you read right: only 3.8) points per game.
The Offensive Unit performed just as well, scoring 15.2 points per game.
And the 1974 Varsity Football Team played as a unit — a coach's dream: a real team.
But it was all a matter of one point.

Mr. Joe Sevenich, head football coach

A 7-6 loss to St. John's kept the Knights out of the 1974 Shoe Bowl and away from a bid for the City League championship. One more point against the Titans could have put the Knights on the road

St. Francis	6-7	St. John's
St. Francis	21-0	Rogers
St. Francis	28-0	Stritch
St. Francis	26-7	Bowsher

Giving up no more than eight points in any one game and recording four shutouts along the way, the Defensive Unit dominated the attack.

Named to the All-Division Team were Alan Geha, tailback; Bill Jaco, end; Mike Schlageter, guard; and Roger Staccone, linebacker.

Honorable Mention was given to Ed Clemons, back; Bob Ignasiak, end; Tim Kronbach, back; Jeff Peer, tackle; Mike Schwartz, tackle; and John Westhoven, fullback.

The next three seasons look promising. The Junior Varsity ended with an 8-0 record, tallying 230 points while holding their opponents to 54.

The pictures on these two pages show some of the action at the Bowsher, Libby and Waite games.

The Knight water polo team took the state title for the second consecutive year by outscoring their four opponents with a 53-2 cumulative score at the title matches at Euclid, Ohio. The quality of the team was also demonstrated by the fact that they played and defeated varsity college water polo teams several times during the year.

Neither the scores nor the photos fully describe the difficulty of the game nor the proficiency of the Knights. The game is a type of "aquatic soccer" in which players throw the ball into the opponent's goal with only one hand. To add to the difficulty, players are not allowed to touch the bottom of the pool at any time. The coach is Mr. Dennis "Butch" Graves.

Knights finish 'long season' with 10-9 record

The year opened with anticipation of the City League title.

But after tromping Stritch and Central, the bubble burst when the Knights met up with three straight losses — to Scott, Rogers, and Delphos St. John's — that set them into a tailspin from which they never quite recovered. After that it was a matter of a win there and a loss three to make up a patchy 10-9 season.

Mr. Jim Robinson, head basketball coach

The high point of the season came when Senior Forward Dave Bak broke a school scoring record by tossing in 40 points against Hamilton Garfield. Finally, Bak was named to The Toledo Times First Team and to The Blade Second Team All-City. In addition, Forward Lee Liddell and Center Bill Jaco were given Honorable Mention on the All-City team. Mr. James Robinson is head coach. His assistant is Mr. Don Kober.

Swimmers end year third in state; Schlatter, Relay Team named All-American

Talk about success. The Knight swimmers finished a brilliant season by ending up third in the state, one point from second, behind powerhouses Cincinnati St. Xavier and Upper Arlington. The Knights went undefeated in regular season dual meets except for one defeat at the hands of Xavier.

Honors of a different kind were given to the Relay Team when they were automatically labeled All-American in state competition. The team included Marc Schlatter, Terry Powell, Rick Smenner, and Nick Daudelin. Schlatter was also named an All-American in breast stroke competition. Consideration for All-American was given to Powell for the 100 yard back stroke, and to the Free Relay Team, consisting of Powell, Daudelin, Bob Ward, and Mike Wohl.

Out in front, Junior Dan MacDonald (1) turns it on in the final 50. In (2) and (3) the Knight swimmers get a fast start off the block during the St. Francis Invitational.

Knight wrestlers lack experience, end season at 4-5

Loaded with underclassmen, the wrestling team lacked experience. The result was a 4-5 record in regular season dual meets. Tournament play was about the same: at Brecksville the Knights managed an 11th place; in the CIT they took a 6th; in the City League Tournament they took a 4th, missing 3rd place by one point; in the Sectionals they took a 3rd; they won the Districts; and they finally managed to take 18th place in the state tournament. Advancing to Columbus for the state meet were Glen DeNies, Mike Schlageter, Chris Sutton, and Joe Torti. Head Coach is Mr. Don Wyper. Mr. Tim Horne is assistant coach.

Forensics team continues to win honors

Any record of the activities of the forensics team is automatically obsolete. The "season" outlasts the entire school year, and during the summer students perfect their talents at institutes held at major universities. The students compete nearly every weekend during the school year.

No less hard-working are the director, moderator, and coaches. Mrs. Esther Kalmbach oversees the whole affair by scheduling tournaments, managing the budget, and finding ways to transport students hundreds of miles. Mr. Steve Loomis, the moderator, is largely responsible for that last chore as he spends many hours behind the wheel of the St. Francis van. He also helps to keep things operating smoothly. The individual event coach is Mr. John Villers from Bowling Green University. On many evenings he works late in the classroom on the second floor. Mrs. Kalmbach, who is one of the most successful debate coaches in the country, prepares students for the finest competition in the country.

Humorous interpretation is a type of speech that allows the participant great freedom to express his emotions. Along the top of the page, Gary Franklin shows frustration, surprise, disappointment, fascination, and happiness. At left, Mike Kenney practices his original oration in which he discusses that eternal weakness of students – the urge to cheat. Coach Villers takes careful notes in order to help Mike improve his speaking style. From left to right, Dave Andryc, John Rockwell, and John Priebe observe Mike as they await their turns. Many hours of practice are needed to polish a single speech.

Mike Beckmann shows that extemporaneous speaking requires more than a mellow voice and a glib tongue. Students must master many techniques.

This year, our extemporaneous speakers placed at dozens of tournaments. Especially noteworthy was Mark Mandula, who distinguished himself at prestigious tournaments in Atlanta and Pittsburg, among others. The debate team placed first at tournaments in Cincinnati and Akron.

At the state qualifying tournament at Bowling Green University, eight members of the forensics team qualified for the State Championship Tournament to be held in Columbus. They were Jack Mandula, Kevin Moenter, Joe Kolanko, and Bob Busse in debate; Mark Mandula, Brian Kenney, and Mike Beckmann in extemporaneous speaking; and Gary Franklin in humorous interpretation.

For the second consecutive year, St. Francis won the district debate championship at Ohio University. By finishing first in that tournament, the debate team of Kolanko and Busse qualified for the National Championship Tournament to be held in June in Indianapolis, Indiana. Brian Kenney narrowly missed qualifying for the national finals by finishing in second place in extemporaneous speaking.

The next goal of the students is to win a state championship. Since it is possible to qualify for the national finals by finishing first in the state, the current "season" for much of the team may still not be finished when this book comes out.

Administration restructured; president and new principal named

In a restructuring of administration, the Rev. Robert Healy was named president and the Rev. Ronald Olszewski was named principal. Both appointments became effective Feb. 17, 1975.

A week later, the Rev. Cecil O'Donnell was appointed assistant principal, replacing the Rev. James Prentice.

Father Healy, principal since 1967, is chief executive officer. He serves as a member of the board of trustees, and has direct responsibility for finances. He supervises the financial board, development director, and parent and alumni moderators.

Father Olszewski, who joined the faculty last September as director of teacher development, is chief administrative officer of the school. He is responsible for academic policy making, daily operation of the school, and relations with faculty, students, and parents. He is also a trustee.

The Rev. Alfred Russell, chairman of the board of trustees and Toledo community superior, said the administrative changes were made to lighten the load on the principal who has had responsibility for school operation, academic policy, community relations, and finances.

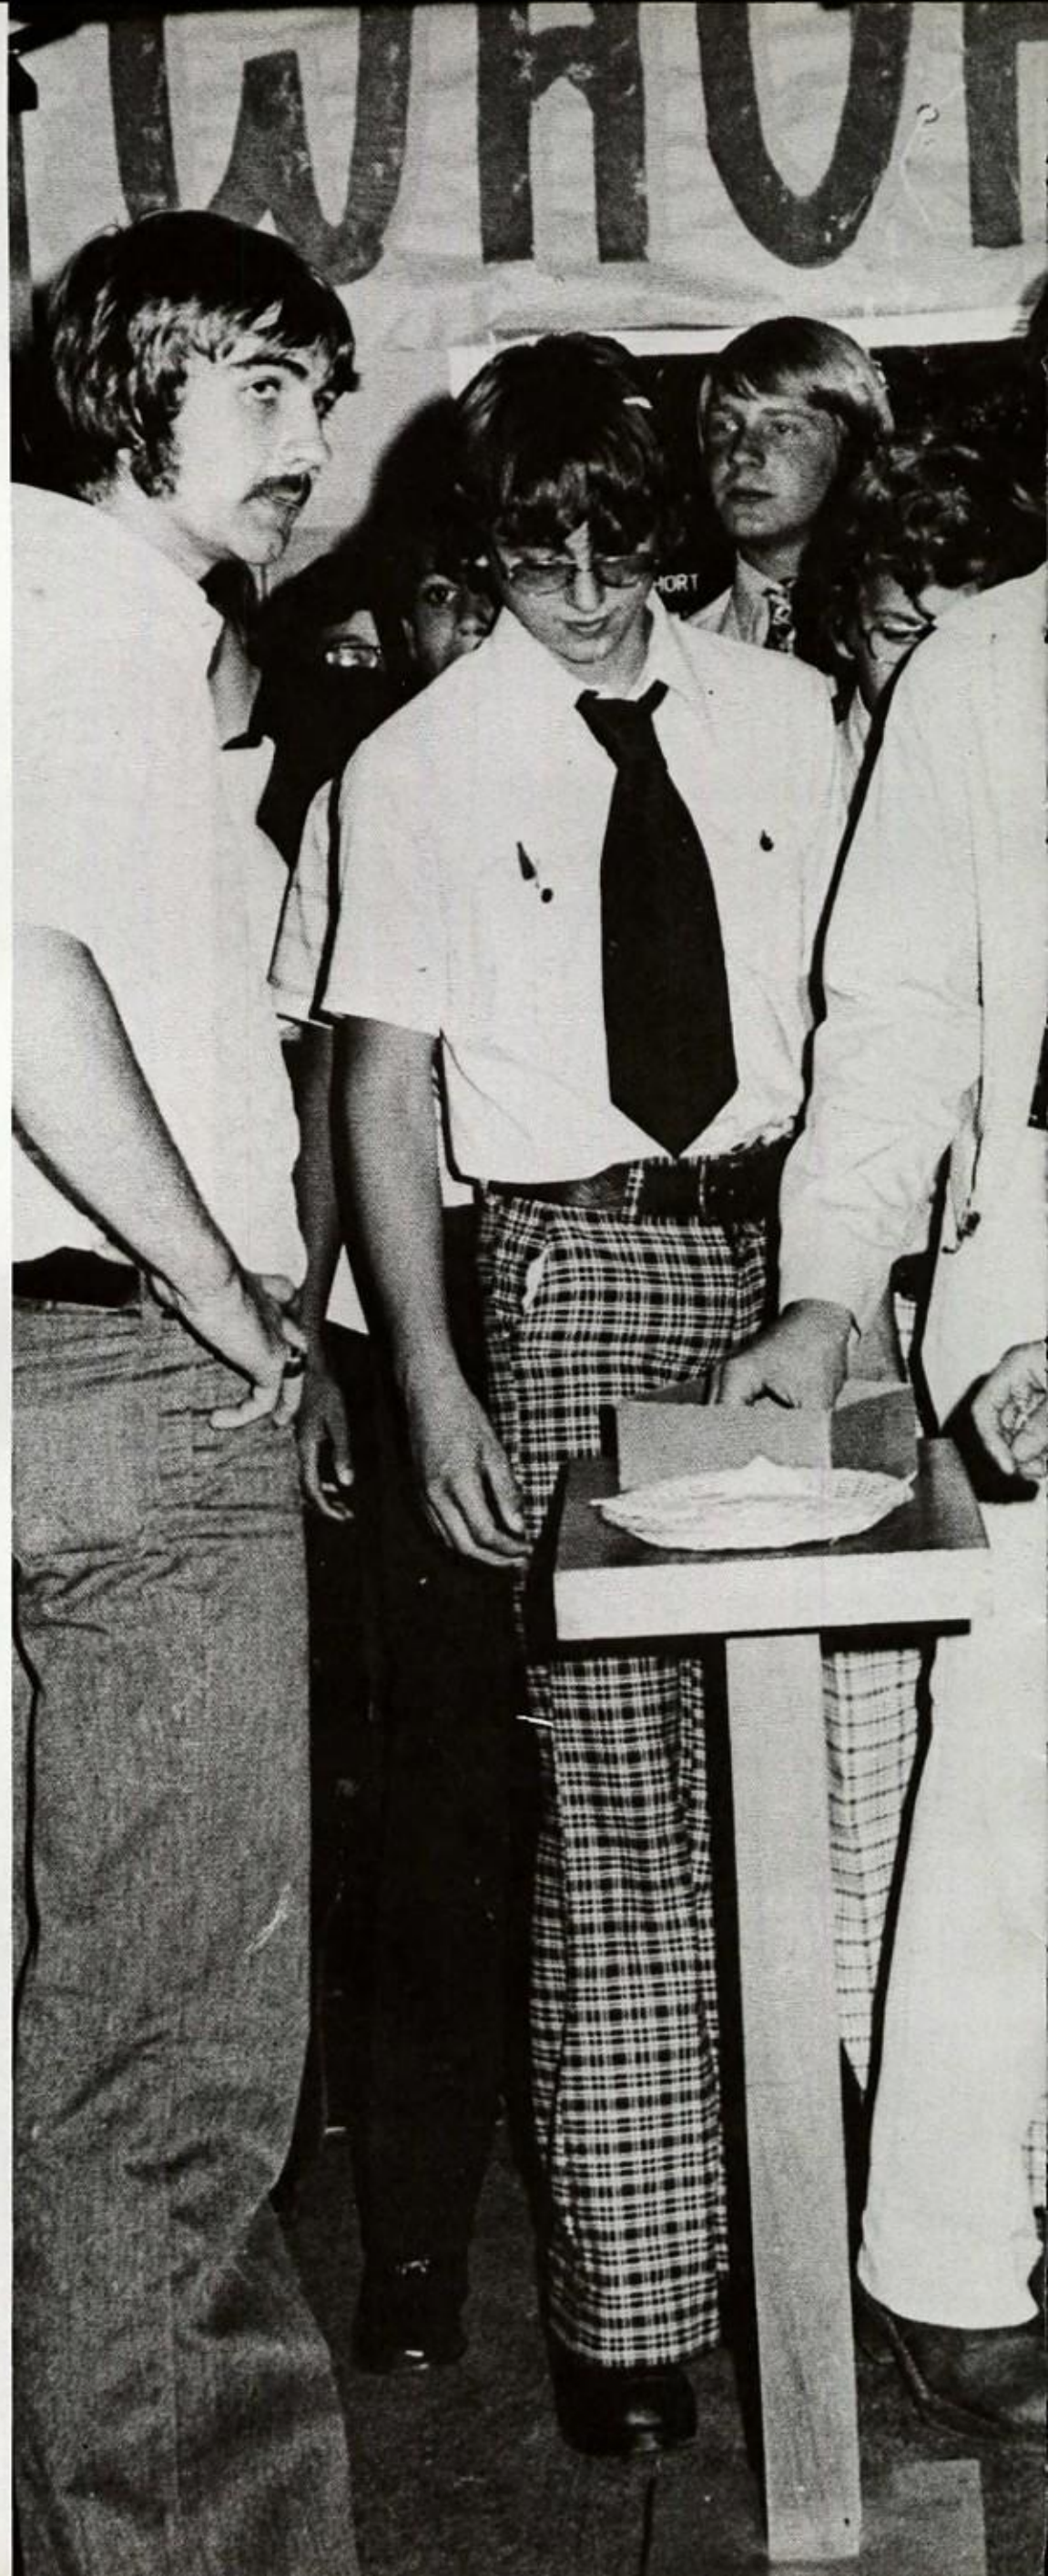
The Freshman Academics Year

"Things are always at their best in their beginning," said Blaise Pascal. Education at St. Francis becomes deeper and broader over four years, but there are many joys of discovery and surprises which can be fully experienced only by freshmen. Most freshmen face probably the most demanding curriculum they have ever experienced. They are required to study religion, English, history, science, a foreign language, and algebra. Since St. Francis is a college preparatory school, the subjects are designed to prepare the students for more advanced study, both here and in college. The religion course, for example, stresses the study of the Bible while algebra prepares the student for an additional three years of math. As the pictures show, the freshmen seem to enjoy their courses and seem to gain a great deal from them for both the present and the future.



The Freshman Quest at the beginning of the school year introduces the freshmen to the Christian spirit at St. Francis. Senior volunteers aid freshmen in preparing for the Mass.

Sophomore Academics

Having survived and benefited from the rigors of the freshmen year, the sophomores move on to more advanced and challenging studies. The mathematical, linguistic, and religious principles, which they learned as freshmen, are now elaborated. In addition, the sophomores study history and either biology or chemistry.

The sophomore year is the last "structured" year that the Knights have. Before getting involved in the more varied courses open to seniors and juniors, they learn the basics in a wide range of subjects necessary for academic development. They attempt fluency in foreign languages, familiarity with the scientific methods, and an appreciation for both fiction and non-fiction in literature class. They also work on basic composition and speech skills.

Junior Academics

The juniors have a lot of options. In addition to four different science courses, they may elect to study such subjects as mechanical drawing, film making, television production, pre-calculus, and various social sciences.

They are also required to study the traditional courses, like geometry and English, but the choice of specific fields within most areas is a wide one, both officially and at the discretion of the teacher in the classroom.

It is in the junior year that students really become aware of what they must prepare for. The thought of college looming in the future motivates many students to pursue their studies with new or renewed vigor.

As they learn in ethics class, man needs a purpose, a goal.

Whatever that purpose happens to be, most students seem to find it in the junior year.

Senior Academics

When you burn all your books and notes, when you forget everything you have ever learned, when you reduce yourself to your identity, the difference between yourself at birth and at this time is education.
Many thinkers have expressed this truth in one way or another, but St. Francis seniors recognize,
in some way,
that this is why education is so valuable.
The senior courses are wide-open and most seniors are motivated by personal interests. Many courses are identical to college courses, and many are taken for personal enrichment.
Seniors study poetry, calculus, advanced courses in chemistry and biology, religion, French, German, Latin, physics, and social science courses as varied as the field itself.
It is a diverse and interesting curriculum for a diverse and interesting

Editor's Note

When someone picks up a yearbook, who realizes how much time, work, and emotion has gone into it?
I didn't know until this year.
And
even though it's over now,
I still want to do more.
It's like people say:
"You don't really miss something until it's over with."
Well, this is it.
And it couldn't have been done without a lot of help from a lot of people who had the time,
the patience,
and the energy
to get the job done.
For different kinds of help, I'd like to thank Mom and Dad
Robb and Scott and Bob and Ron
Father Healy
Father Olszewski
Mr. Mattingly
Faculty and Administration
Office Staff
Oley and Jim
Mrs. Farnham
Vicki Kronbach

With a little practice you may be able to disappear and maybe with a little more you won't come back. but knowing you. you will show up again before next year. by the way watch those Lexistants
Derek Clark

Jeff!
It was great knowing you this year and I hope to see you here next year. Take care of yourself and your girl this summer and don't come back yet
Your friend
Father Tony Sorrentino

Jeff,
A fine classmate & friend have fun
this summer.
Frank Arway

Magical Rabbit,
you may think you are a good magician and you might be,
but your rabbit act is the Best ever but don't give up the magic who knows a miricle could happen and you might become Known to the world
